Romulus officials decry state-mandated code

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Romulus Building Department officials are working overtime to draw up amendments to an unpopular new building code the city will have to abide by beginning Nov. 6.

As of that day, all municipalities in Michigan must have adopted one of five federal and state-recognized building ordinances, or face a state takeover of their building departments.

Romulus officials, along with numerous other area city leaders, oppose adoption of any of the five specified ordinances, claiming they are too lenient and will hinder positive growth in their communities. Nevertheless, the Romulus City Council has abided by the state ruling by adopting one of the five ordinances, called the Building Officials and Code Administrators (BOCA) International code.

THE BOCA code, which will take effect Nov. 6 in Romulus, is regarded as the most stringent of the five available building ordinances, but still doesn't measure up to Romulus' existing codes officials said.

"BOCA is the toughest of the five codes, but is nothing compared to what Romulus and the average city has now," said Mayor Terry L. Troutt. "The new code just is not very stringent and could be a very serious thing in the community."

"It will reduce building costs but lessen the quality at the same time, as well as loosen fire code regulations," he maintained.

Troutt and Romulus Building Department Director Howard Lethemon explained that some of the more serious results of the BOCA code will be the lowering of floor and wall thickness minimums and the abolishment of the city's current foundation depth requirements.

ROMULUS presently requires a minimum floor thickness of 3/4-inch. Under the BOCA code, the minimum will be 5/8-inch. Last spring city building officials inspected more than 150 homes and required improvements to be made in floor and wall thickness in many of them. Under the BOCA code, those improvements would not have been mandatory, Troutt said.

Also, Romulus now has a 42-inch house foundation depth minimum. BOCA has no depth stipulations.

"This is a very serious thing to the community," Troutt continued. "It affects every city in the state and most cities have more stringent codes than these new ones. The code legislation is one of the worst pieces of legislation ever made by the state; the legislators must have been sleeping at the switch on that one."

UNDER NEW regulations, a city may not operate under its present codes even if they are stricter and possibly more beneficial to the community than BOCA or the four other codes, he said.

The only municipalities the new codes will benefit, are ones presently without building ordinances, Troutt added.

He said he feels there should be a state-wide minimum building code and not a combination minimum-maximum code such as BOCA.

As a result, Romulus is formulating amendments to the BOCA code "to establish higher requirements to forestall maintenance needs."

Building director sees possible court action

While Romulus officials work steadily to draw up amendments to the state-mandated building code which will go into effect next month, officials confide that the amendments may well be thrown out by the state.

In that event, according to Romulus Building Department Director Howard Lethemon, the city most likely will take the matter to court for a ruling.

Dearborn and Livonia have joined Romulus in criticizing the new code regulations and likewise are formulating amendments to them, Lethemon added.

According to Romulus Mayor Terry Troutt the three cities eventually may band together in a suit against the state building commission, charging that the state hasn't the right to take away building control from home rule cities.

League donates building

City to assume mortgage

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

The City of Romulus has gained a building for recreational, community and senior citizen activities while relieving the Romulus Civic League of a growing financial burden.

The city has agreed to assume monthly mortgage payments of $180 until a $15,376.02 balance is paid on the 80-by-50-foot structure at 11495 Wahrman. The 15-year-old building, which originally cost $60,000, is being given to the city by the civic league as a gift although the league has paid nearly $45,000 on it.

"We've been losing a few members each month and it has just gotten too difficult to pay for the building any longer," explained Romulus Civic League President Alred Todd. He said about 40 members of the league originally agreed to pledge $2 a month to meet mortgage payments on the recreation hall, but the membership seriously is lagging now.

IN ADDITION to the building, four property lots covering 2 1/2 acres at the same address on Wahrman will be transferred to the city.

The city already has made plans for its new recreation building which includes a kitchen area, by scheduling a children's Halloween Party there.

"This is a very fine thing for the city," said Mayor Terry L. Troutt, who formulated the purchase agreement with Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McAnally. "Romulus needed a building large enough for some recreation activities which presently cannot find room elsewhere. It will be a good meeting place for senior citizens and any civic activity."

He said the masonry building is in "top shape."

ROMULUS HAD budgeted for improvements to be made to the old Romulus Department of Public Works (DPW) building on Bibbins Street to accommodate recreation, but the acquisition of the new building on Wahrman will alter those plans, Troutt said. The recreation department offices will still remain in the DPW facility, he added.

Under terms of the purchase agreement with the civic league, the city may not use the Wahrman structure or surrounding 2 1/2 acres for housing or commercial purposes. Also, should the city ever desire to stop using the facilities, both it and the civic league will agree on the disposition of them and how to use the proceeds from a sale.

Out in autumn

There is no better time to investigate the wonders of nature than during the autumn season, and few places afford more variety than Michigan. The many-hued leaves, animals foraging for the winter supply of food, the smell of marshmallows roasting over an open fire, the crisp smell of autumn in the air: all are part of the enjoyment of this season. These youngsters show that, working together, they can tower over the play totem pole at a nature center in Western Wayne County. It is all part of fall-time fun for Danny Lyons (top) and Scott Fuller, who doesn't appear to be enjoying the trick as much as his friend. With winter soon threatening to sweep through the state, residents should take advantage of fascinating sights at area nature centers soon. The Romulus Roman photo.

County allocates funds for lighting program

The area is remote and unlit at night...

A subcommittee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has stamped its approval on granting $10,000 to the City of Romulus as the county's share of a street lighting cost in the Beverly-Henry Ruff roads area.

The approval by the Public Works Committee represented the biggest hurdle for Romulus to leap in its quest to illuminate the remote Beverly-Ruff area. The committee's recommendation to grant the $10,000 to Romulus now goes to the Ways and Means Committee - another board of commissioners subcommittee - for a final ruling.

To finance the installation of street lights along the roads, Romulus plans to create a special assessment district involving property owners in the area. Wayne County owns about 400 acres of land there and is debating whether to allow Romulus to assess the land annually allocate the $10,000 in one lump sum.

Legally, Romulus cannot force an assessment on the county, but may do so with the county's permission. Without that permission, and should the grant possibility crumble, the city would be hard-pressed to finance the lighting, according to city officials.

The Public Works Committee's decision to recommend to the county that it grant the $10,000, however, indicates the county will rule favorably.

If assessed annually at the standard 23 cents per foot rate, the county's 400 acres would bring in about $650 to the city, a Romulus official estimated. The

Besides the county's 400 acres and various properties owned by homeowners in the area, the Beverly-Ruff locale includes about 20 acres of city land and another 20 belonging to the Romulus Community School District. The city, school district and various property owners will pay the assessments on their affected land.

The Beverly-Ruff area has been tabbed a "dumping ground" because several Detroit murder victims were found there in the last year. The area is remote and unlit at night, and serves as an effective cover for would-be criminals.

$10,000 grant deposited in a bank, however, would earn sufficient interest to net the city considerably more than $650 yearly, he said.

Finalizing plans

Members of the Romulus Civic League iron out the final details of an agreement with the City of Romulus in which the league will give the city its recreation and meeting center in exchange for the city's assuming the building's mortgage payments. In the center at 11495 Wahrman are (from left), Edward Wallace, president of the Romulus Senior Citizens and civic league member; Sadye Sumpter, the league's senior member; Henry Fisher, second vice-president of the league; and Alfred Todd, civic league president. Romulus officials anticipate using the building as a meeting place for senior citizens and a general recreation facility. The center contains a kitchen for preparing refreshments and meals and ample recreational space. — The Romulus Roman photo.

Reflecting the scenic trees across the lake from Charles Cozadd's ranch-style home, the view as far as you can see is the property of the Van Buren Township attorney. Lowering of state speed limit has effect of traffic accidents

Statistics are proving that Western Wayne County residents and person throughout the state are less likely of being killed in automobile crashes with the reduction of the speed limit to 55 miles per hour.

Forty-five more persons were alive after the first eight months of 1974 than during the same period in 1973 as a result of traffic accidents in Detroit, an analysis of Detroit Police Department traffic records showed.

Senator says

Proposal needs help

A state senator has called for voters to approve a proposal designed to protect highway funds, regardless of the outcome of a mass transit bonding issue that also will appear on the Nov. 5 general election ballot.

"Roads and streets will continue for many years to be the basic transportation network for Michigan and there is urgent need that user taxes be safeguarded against diversion to prevent deterioration of our road systems," said Sen. James Fleming, chairman of the Senate Highways Committee. "Existing highway user revenues, paid for by motorists, now are only half-adequate to maintain state, county and municipal roads and streets in safe-driving condition and provide needed surface improvements," he added.

Fleming declared that Proposal A, designed to limit the diversion of highway taxes been charted in deaths, records show. In the first seven months this year, through July, more than 9,000 fewer persons suffered injuries in Detroit accidents compared with the same period in 1973. There were approximately 7,000 fewer accidents of all types.

The same encouraging record also is being recorded in Wayne County and the state as a whole. In Michigan, 366 fewer persons were killed on the streets and highways through August of this year, a reduction of 22 per cent.

Smokers get a lesson from one who knows

By JEAN CALMEN
The Roman Special Writer

People, especially smokers, who suffer from continuing hoarseness or weakening of the voice, sore throat, swollen glands, or earaches possibly could have cancer of the larynx and should see a throat specialist, according to a spokesman for the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The spokesman, Harold Algar, said smoking may cause cancer of the larynx with all its possible consequences including one or more operations, loss of ability to speak, and even death.

Algar is an unusual but effective spokesman on this topic. He is a laryngectomee, a person whose larynx, or voice box, has been removed by surgery causing the loss of his voice.

HE SAID some laryngectomees can learn to speak as he does, in a low monotone, by swallowing air and then expelling it, causing the esophagus, a tube that leads from the throat to the stomach, to vibrate and produce sound. He called this esophageal speech.

Using a microphone, Algar could be heard and understood clearly in the city council chamber of Romulus City Hall as he addressed the opening session Monday of a 3-day stop-smoking clinic.

Since his operation 16 years ago, Algar has taught other laryngectomees to speak by the esophageal method, working at the Wayne State University Speech and Hearing Center.

'Yours doesn't have any batteries to run.'

ONE OF HIS former pupils there, George Town, also addressed the group. Noting that most of those present were women, he told them that a female laryngectomee would speak in much the same deep monotone as his own.

Town said he first learned that he had cancer of the larynx after his voice had weakened almost to a whisper and he went to a throat specialist.

Doctors previously had warned him to stop smoking, he added.

Algar emphasized that, although he could not attribute his diseased larynx to the effects of smoking, tests have linked smoking to cancer of the lungs as well as the larynx and to emphysema, another crippling or killing disease of the lungs. He said he had been smoking for more than 35 years when he learned that he had cancer.

According to Algar, not all laryngectomees are able to learn the esophageal speech. Some can speak only with the use of a battery-powered vibrator that is held in the hand and pressed against the throat while the lips form words.

Either way, he said: "It's not as good as the voice you have. Yours doesn't have any batteries to run down."

The free clinic is sponsored by the American Lung Association and the Jaycees Auxiliary and is being directed by Pat Arens.

The final meeting will be at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

The proposed work will utilize building and phased construction techniques, according to Romulus School Supt. Robert McConeghy.

Proposals will be accepted until 2 p.m. Nov. 2 at the board of education offices, 36520 Grant Rd., Romulus.

Ritter is treasurer of the North Oakland County Chamber of Commerce, a member of the chamber's executive board of directors and was the recipient of the Clarkston Jaycees' Distinguished Service Award.

Milliken speaks out on budget

Answering charges that the state was "in a mess" budget-wise, Gov. William G. Milliken said: "We've budgeted very responsibly and we budgeted cooperatively with the legislature."

"I think we are on sound and responsible ground. I might add that we're in the process of a total updated review of our budget, but I don't accept the premise that we are in a mess budget-wise."

The governor added, though, that the state was $150 million short of anticipated revenues because of the automobile strike.

"The fact is that because of the automobile strike, which went on longer and had more serious implications than any of us could imagine, we had some $150 million less revenue than we had anticipated. We have about an equal amount of greater expenditures."

"As a result of the strike it was necessary for me to support, and the legislature to adopt, a tax increase at that time. Subsequently, we were in a position where it was possible for the state to reduce taxes. I've said that it is just as important to reduce taxes when it's possible as it is important to raise them when it is necessary."

Milliken also answered a number of other questions. They follow.

QUESTION: In your educational package of 1969, you spoke of working for the establishment of an appointive State Board of Education. You stated you would stake your political career on the appointive state board proposal. After five years...what have you accomplished in the proposal of 1969?

ANSWER: I said that I would be willing to stake my political career on the ability to achieve educational reform for Michigan. I did not specifically tie it to the question of the appointment of a State Board of Education.

It was to the much broader point of overall reform of educational financing. I still believe very strongly that an appointed board does make some sense, and I still will continue to advocate such a board. But on the more basic question, I did in 1969 propose the elimination of the property tax for school operating purposes, and as you know that was translated into Proposal C. We took that proposal to the public and we lost.

As an alternative, I proposed to the legislature the equal yield formula which over a three year phase-in period would make each mill levied locally, wherever it was levied in the State of Michigan, to provide an equal yield regardless of the affluence or lack of affluence of the school district in which the millage was levied. That has been achieved.

I believe it represents a major breakthrough in educational financing in the country and as a matter of fact that has resulted in this becoming, in many ways, a model for the United States. We have been able to sharply reduce that great disparity between the lower spending districts and the higher, and it has been done without bringing the high and better districts down.

It has raised the floor, and I am proud of this achievement. I think it does represent a breakthrough and I would stake my political fortunes on that.

QUESTION: (1) Will the pardon granted former President Richard Nixon affect the Republican party campaign? (2) How much can you achieve with a Democratic House and a divided Senate?

ANSWER: I would say that the pardon by President Ford of former President Nixon, at least at the present time, from a political standpoint is a clear negative. I think there is a strong feeling in the country that it goes against the basic principle of equal justice under law and that it represents a double standard.

I do believe that it will be perhaps less of an issue as time goes on but it is very difficult for me to know at this point to what extent it would negatively affect the Nov. 5 election. I don't think politically it can be said to be a plus. I fully understand the President's reasons are largely based upon compassion for doing what he did; but politically, I guess you would have to say it is not a plus - it's a minus at least at this time.

QUESTION: Would you have done it if you were President?

ANSWER: I think I would have not. The pardon is a perfectly legitimate accepted power given to the President of the United States under the Constitution, but I have said on many occasions that I believe that it is important that the truth about Watergate and related events come out. It is important for the country and the pardon of course, makes it that much more difficult.

Hopefully, even now, information will still be made available because I think it is important that it does come out. Once it has come out, and once the whole process has worked its way it would be appropriate for the President at that time to consider a pardon.

We have had a divided Senate, and of course we do have a Democratic House. I think the record of this administration working with a divided legislature has been a good one. On major issues affecting the state, we have been able to work together to achieve what I felt, on a number of occasions, to be an honorable compromise. But on many matters I have worked closely and effectively with the Democratic majority in the House and of course closely and effectively with our Republicans in the Senate and in the House.

We have a divided government. We've had one for a long time in Michigan. I think a divided government simply means that you have to find ways to cooperate. You have to find ways to work together. You have to find ways to share credit and if you do those things you can achieve progress in the public interest.

But if it is a constant, bitter running battle then it's the people who suffer. We have been able to achieve a level of cooperation.

QUESTION: What is happening currently on your plan to merge the state's Social Services, Mental Health and Public Health departments into one agency known as the Department of Human Services? Officials have expressed concern that this merger could result in a bureaucracy that would delay the delivery of services to the public at the local level. How do you intend to prevent that from happening and what do you see as the advantages to be derived from the merger?

ANSWER: That proposal by me was made about a year ago to merge those three departments, plus some other functions in several of the other departments. I issued an executive order to do that. The legislature has the responsibility to overturn the executive order within 60 days if they are not supportive of it and they did not do that. Beyond that I had introduced a bill which officially would, on the part of the legislature, adapt the concept of the coordinated approach.

That went through by a very convincing margin in the House. Then it got bogged down in the Senate to my great displeasure and frustration. The formal implementation of the concept has not been adopted by the legislature. However, I am attempting to achieve many of the objectives through executive action. As the chief executive officer of the state, I will strive to coordinate these functions to eliminate the overlap and duplication usually seen out in the field - where you may have the department of social services in Macomb County, and mental health units scattered all over the place trying to coordinate efforts locally so that you can better serve people on the local level. I am convinced we will save money. I am convinced we will provide better services, more sensitive and responsive.

I am going to continue to push for the idea. I feel that by the time the legislature returns in January the record will clearly demonstrate that we have made enormous progress in cleaning up the welfare problems. The legislature, when they see what has been accomplished, will be responsive in the final passage of this bill.

QUESTION: Your opponent cites the recent HEW report as "clear evidence" of waste of tax dollars and disregard for human needs under Michigan's welfare system. He also charges that "incompetent management" of your administration must be held responsible for the $76.7 million annual waste of state-federal welfare funds cited in the report. Do you agree with your opponent's figures and are you willing to accept responsibility for this so-called waste?

ANSWER: I think what is important to understand is what has transpired in the past. Continually we have been frustrated by federal rules and regulations with respect to the operation of the department of social services. There have been a number of things that we have attempted to do and we have been blocked by HEW. There have been some actions which we have undertaken and we have been required by HEW to rescind those actions. A year ago I met with the HEW secretary in Washington to review the whole range of problems that were confronting our department. I asked the secretary to lift some of the rules and regulations.

He advised me that the department was in the process of a total review of all its requirements. I asked him to send to Michigan a task force of their top people to work with us in relation to federal regulations and state to help prepare recommendations on how we could tighten down our welfare operations, both from the point of view of eliminating errors and overpayments; and, frankly, from the point of view of making it possible for the really needy people to receive what they ought to receive under the system. The secretary responded, at that time, that they were prepared to review all of their rules and regulations.

They subsequently did and completely changed the approach. In responding to my request, which was in the United States for a comprehensive review, he responded by sending a task force into Michigan. As a result, we received about three weeks ago the task force report detailing the things that we now are able to do - many of which we could not do before. He suggested steps that would result in about 38 or 39 million dollars of state funds and about an equal amount of federal funds that could be saved.

I think that it is important that Michigan's present system be put in the proper context. Our error rate is lower than the national average. There are some 37 other states in the country with a higher error rate than we have, and I might add that those states include New York and California - both reputed to have really tightened down on the welfare system.

QUESTION: What is our error rate in percentage?

ANSWER: Our actual error rate, I think, is 6.8 or 6.4 percent. But the things that Mr. Sander Levin is saying that he would do, we are already doing and we are doing as a result of initiatives taken by this Governor.

I am not satisfied with where we are, I have started, based upon this report and upon the relaxed rules and regulations from the federal government, to aggressively move to improve our system even further. Though it compares very favorably with more than 37 other states that have worse error rates and overpayments than ours, he's (Levin) trying to make politics out of this thing. All of the things he claims he would do, we are already doing. And I can tell you, very aggressively.

As they see it

Resident criticizes books at schools

To The Editor: I, Hugh Hurlburt, have lived in Romulus for 30 years. I have voted for good schools. Nothing was said about bad schools or rotten books or rotten teaching techniques. We voted in millage after millage to have the best education money could provide for our children.

We built over those years many new schools including a new high school on Wayne Road. We have furnished those schools with fine equipment. I am retired now but I still have grandchildren going to these schools that I helped to build. I love those grandchildren very much.

I hate to have those children going to those schools as low and filthy as they are getting - filthy books, sex education, reports of teachers swearing and using bad language to children in classrooms.

I am asking ministers of every church regardless of denomination in and around Romulus to contact me at 941-9188 for the purpose of getting together some place and talk this subject over.

I have in my possession a book entitled "Go Ask Alice" that is stamped on both covers "Property of Romulus Junior High School."

This book was checked out of the library of the junior high school by my grandson who is 12 years old. You probably can buy this book on any filthy book stand and you couldn't possibly buy anything any filthier - four letter words and nothing held back.

My question is why are such books in our schools for kids from 10 to 14 years old to check out and read.

This book is too filthy and rotten for any adult to read, yet alone our children. As parents we need to be aware of what is being made available to our children. It would seem in this instance that our school officials are not capable of this action and I personally do not believe that this is how you want your tax dollars spent.

Our school officials were very aware of the gross immorality of this book, yet they allowed three copies to be purchased and reserve sheets filled with your kids names, waiting to get a hold of this trash.

Let's take some positive action so we can rest easy, knowing that only good books are available to our Romulus kids.

Is it wrong?

Rockefeller's gifts

By TOM BRADEN
The Enterprise Roman Special Columnist

Why should it be considered a thing of ill repute that Nelson A. Rockefeller has given away a great deal of money?

And what should we have said if, upon examining Mr. Rockefeller's tax returns, we had discovered that this man of wealth had never given anything to anybody?

Remember when it turned out that on a five figure income, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nixon gave a paltry few dollars to charity? If they were wrong - and everybody seemed to think so - Rockefeller must be right. Or is everybody suspect and nobody can do the right thing?

IN THE YEAR 1970, Mr. Rockefeller gave away so much money to charity that he paid no income tax at all - although in that same year, he paid capital gains taxes which were enormous, even for him.

But critics pounce upon that zero figure.

Nixon's former speechwriter said that by giving his money to charity instead of paying it in taxes, Rockefeller cheated the United States, substituting his judgment about the worthiness of causes for the judgment of the government.

Nixon's speeches always did make sins out of virtues and virtues out of sins, but this argument is straight Marxism. If a man is entitled to acquire money - and our system says he is - is he not also entitled to some voice in how he spends it?

MOREOVER, the argument of the former Nixon speechwriter ignores an essential fact: By designating certain charities as tax-deductible, the government tells us that these charities are worthy of support. What would happen to them if everybody decided to pay taxes instead?

Now it is revealed - as usual through a congressional leak - that Rockefeller made gifts to three former employees, Henry Kissinger, William J. Ronan and Hugh Morrow and to a former political associate, L. Judson Morehouse.

What is the culpability? Take Kissinger. Here was a man who worked for Rockefeller for 15 years off and on, earning a respectable but not munificent fee, conforming to the hectic Rockefeller schedule, turning in a brilliant performance.

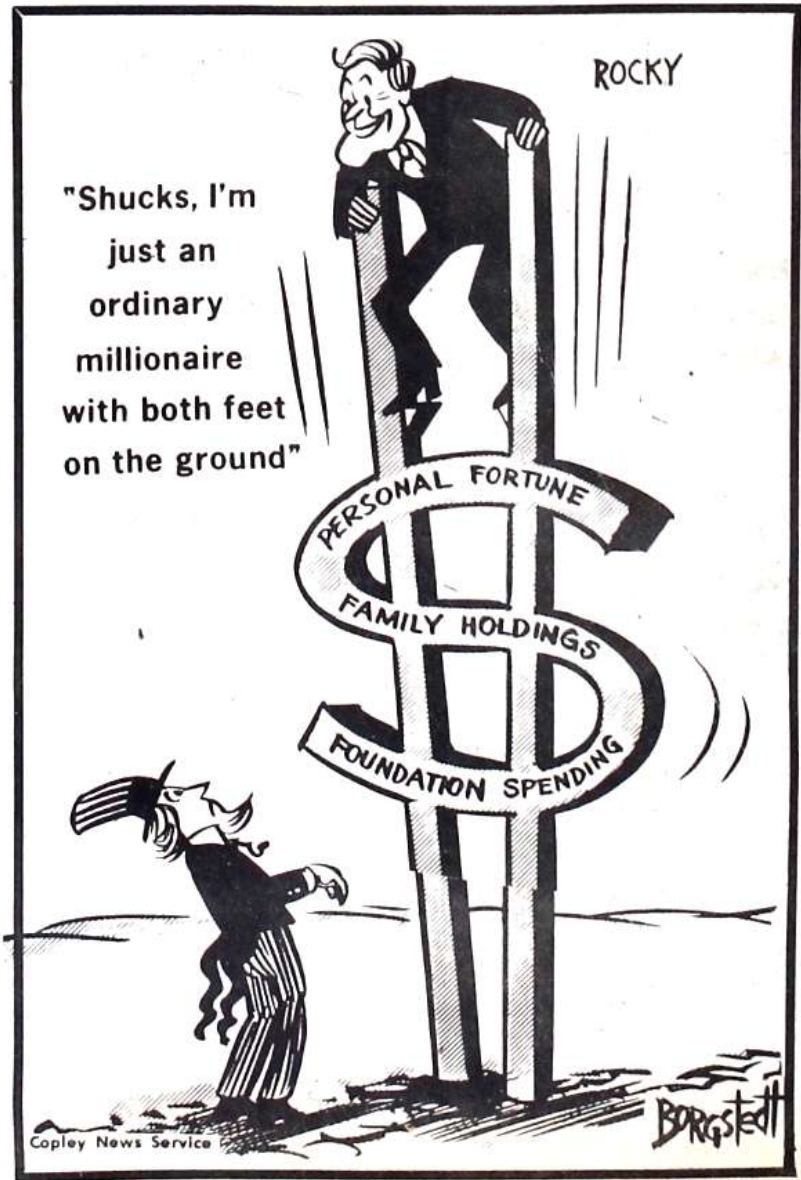

When the time came to leave, Rockefeller made him a present.

DID ROCKEFELLER feel indebted? Did he have a moment of remorse for driving a man hard? Or did he just wish to feel good inside about the ending of a long relationship?

I don't know the answers, but suspect they would define the sentiments of anyone who has ever given a gift of money to anybody. And don't many of us do it? Is it wrong? Have we become so conscious of taking care of the mass that we place no premium upon kindness to an individual?

The story of Rockefeller's gift to William J. Ronan, when it is told, will be not unlike the story of Hugh Morrow, the Rockefeller press aide, who went into impossible debt trying to pay off his wife's medical bills. Rockefeller paid the bills. Is this wrong? Moreover is it necessary to make it public?

Every political reporter knows that L. Judson Morehouse, who helped Rockefeller win his first race for governor, is broken physically and psychologically. But reporters are now viewing with alarm the revelation that Morehouse borrowed $100,000 from Rockefeller and that Rockefeller canceled $86,000 of the loan after Morehouse had contracted cancer and Parkinson's disease.

For school children

County stresses shots

October is Immunization Action Month in Western Wayne County, part of a national state and local effort to educate parents about immunizing their children against many dangerous and preventable childhood diseases like polio, measles, rubella, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

Surveys conducted throughout the State of Michigan in 1974 indicated that only about 60 per cent of all pre-school and school age children are protected against polio, while only about 80 per cent of the children are immunized against measles.

Officials said there are not enough children protected to prevent a disease epidemic if one were to get started.

The Wayne County Health Department has urged all parents to check their children's immunization records and to make sure their loved ones are protected with a minimum of three doses of DPT vaccine for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus; three doses of oral polio vaccine; and one dose each of measles, mumps and rubella vaccine.

If children need any of these doses, they should be taken to their family physician or to the Wayne County Health Department, officials said.

The health department and several area hospitals will offer clinics from noon until 5 p.m. on Oct. 27 where children can receive free vaccines for protection against polio, measles and rubella. Parents may take their children to Wayne County General Hospital on Merriman Road at Michigan, Eloise, for immunizations at that time.

Ground broken for police post

Ground-breaking ceremonies recently were held for the new $2.24 million Michigan State Police second district headquarters and post building now ready for construction in Northville, to serve areas in Western Wayne County and neighboring communities.

Col. George L. Halverson, department director, and other state police officers participated in the Monday program with some area legislators, civic, county and city officials, other law enforcement personnel, court officials and others who were invited to attend.

The new second district facility, which will include offices and equipment for district, post and crime laboratory operations, will be situated on a 10-acre site on Seven Mile Road obtained in a land transfer by legislative action from Northville State Hospital property. District operations have outgrown present quarters and necessitated planning for the new building.

The building project, which has long been under consideration, is in the plan approval stage, with bid letting expected to be the next step. Estimated completion date for the building is in the spring of 1976.

The one-floor building will have an area of 40,300 square feet and will also have a basement.

A LONG STRETCH—The prettiest, reddest, most delicious looking apple at South Huron Orchard was just out of reach for little Sarah Danyko who, with feminine persistence, finally realized her goal. The pretty blonde pre-schooler was part of the entourage from Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery visiting the New Boston orchard and cider mill recently.

MOD HEADGEAR FOR TOTS—Looking much like today's upbeat generation (which often sports sweatbands for effect), two tots from Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery were delighted with the headbands which set them apart from others at South

Huron Orchard and Cider Mill. Michael Campeau (left) and Nancy Atkinson and their classmates not only toured the facility but actually got to pick their own special apple to enjoy with cider and donuts.

Co-op nursery tots visit orchard and cider mill

The children of Huron Countryside Cooperative Nursery took a field trip to the South Huron Orchard and Cider Mill recently.

"Apple Charlie" Grover was the tour guide and entranced the children with the demonstrated story of how a "spur" turns to a bud in the spring, then flowers and, after being "kissed" by the bees, turns into a big red apple by the next fall.

After discussing forms of preserving or storing food, everyone entered Charlie's giant refrigerator. They then witnessed apples being polished and automatically sorted for size.

On learning that 90 percent of an apple is really juice, the kiddies were shown the workings of a huge press which makes apple cider. It was particularly interesting for them to see the inside of a beehive and hear the story of the society of honey bees.

The outing was ended with snacks of cider, donuts and apples which the boys and girls actually picked from the trees themselves. Wow! Do those children know all about apples now!

The nursery is presently working on its main fundraising event of the year, the sale of Christmas and all-occasion cards, wraps and novelty gifts. The cards cover a wide range from large boxes of budget-priced cards to those of fine quality which can be personalized. Anyone interested in seeing samples may contact Marcia Lemon at 782-4384 or Pam Krzeminski at 654-2127 to arrange for a nursery member to call.

Drysdales are home from trip to Europe

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING 699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drysdale of Alden Drive returned to Belleville last week after enjoying a three-week European trip. After spending a few days in Amsterdam they joined the tour group at Brussels. The two week bus trip included Germany, Switzerland, a week in Austria, Northern Italy, France and then London where they spent a few days before returning home.

Weekend guests at the Belleville home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams of W. Huron River Drive were friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lilly from Black River.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Jones and six months old son, Jason, from Atlanta, Ga. and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vaughn of Romulus, were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Orr of Harmony Lane.

Dinner guests last Wednesday evening of Mrs. S.C. Pieman of E. Huron River Drive were Mr. and Mrs. John Spring of North Bend, Ore., the Herbert Spring family of Plymouth, Mrs. Joseph Spring of Liberty Street and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ransom of W. Huron River Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Atyeo of Church Street recently returned to Belleville from Athens, Ga. after having spent three weeks with the former's daughter and husband, Dr. and Mrs. N.H. Booth and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Boldt of Roland Street motored to Iowa Oct. 5 where they attended the wedding of a nephew, Phillip Betz, and Debra Kueck at the First United Methodist Church and the reception at the Jaycee Community Center.

Week-end guests of Mrs. Henry Sager of W. Columbia Avenue were Dr. and Mrs. James Jacobs and sons, Lance Thor and Lars, of Cincinnati, Ohio, after attending the Michigan - Michigan State game in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Emmet Sheats of New Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson of Elwell Road attended a belated birthday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Early of Milan Oct. 5. The occasion was in celebration of both Russell and Rachel Wilson's birthdays which occurred while they were vacationing in North Western Ontario.

IT'S COUNTRY STYLE—A rustic sign depicts the whole mood of the upcoming bazaar which is being planned by the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. Set for Oct. 24, "Country Store" (this year's theme) is under the general chairmanship of Avis White (center) who is holding one of the featured Christmas 'shoppe' items, a patchwork wreath, which church women have been busily sewing. Eunice Kause, who is seeing to decorations and Peggy Chizmar, who is handling publicity, are shown at left and right, respectively. Bazaar hours are 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Shower given for Ohio R.N.

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The Barney Williams home in Romulus was the gathering spot Sunday for some 42 guests who came to honor Kitty Williams who is to be a December bride. Kitty, who is a registered nurse in Cleveland, Ohio, was home for a week's vacation and to take time out for the fun of a bridal shower.

Co-hostesses were the bride-elect's aunts, Mrs. Edgar Shay of Maybee; Mrs. Rockford Willis of Toledo, Ohio and Mrs. Eldon Brock of Dundee.

A salad buffet (the do-it-yourself kind) opened the afternoon activities which included a few bridal theme games and then just general reminiscing and visiting. When Kitty opened her variety of household gifts, arranged in and about a wicker hamper, she was assisted by her cousins, Alicia Shay, who came from the University of Toledo for the occasion, and Mindy Clark, a student at Michigan State University. Both will be bridesmaids at the winter wedding.

The honoree and her fiancé, Jack Weinberger of Lakewood, Ohio, plan to be married in Cleveland at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, the Charles Greens.

Denny visits in Ohio

Former area residents, Dean and Nancy Erhart, who now call Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio their home, had a special visitor last week. Dean's son, Denny, who now lives in Cheboygan with his mother, spent five days with the Erharts before he had to return home to start his first year of school.

His brief visit, though, left him with some very nice memories of his neighboring state with a drive to Aurora, Ohio on the list. There the attraction was Sea World where Denny watched the famous killer whale, Shamu, perform and where he got to feed and pet the dolphins and see the large aquariums filled with unusual tropical fish.

Another fun-filled day was spent at the world's largest train museum at Cuyahoga Falls where full-sized retired train cars are housed.

Going home was also a gold star event since Denny had the experience of his first plane trip and flying home—all by himself.

Out-of-town guests visit

Sunday dinner guests at the Judd Road home of Fay and Mary Ferguson were her sister, Mrs. Florence Rectner from Wauseon, Ohio, and also her nephew and wife, Ralph and Jackie Rectner and their small son, Jason, from Morenci.

Other guests included in the Sunday gathering were the Roger and Bob Ferguson families from Belleville.

BPW planning blood campaign

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club held its regular monthly meeting at South Junior High School with 29 members and 14 guests present.

Biggest bite is taken in taxes

Wonder where the money goes the family breadwinner works so long and hard to get? Taxes take the biggest bite.

take all that's earned until 10:39 a.m. Other categories take much less time from the working day: housing, one hour; food and beverage, 58

Entertainment

At Plymouth comedy

Grouches should take care

A zany comedy which teaches the lesson that unpleasant people will surely meet an unpleasant end, will be presented by the members of the Plymouth Theater Guild on Nov. 7, 8 and 9 at the Central Middle School, 650 Church, Plymouth.

Written by James Kirkwood, the play is entitled,

"Unhealthy To Be Unpleasant (UTBU)," and tells the story of an organization dedicated to righting the world's ills through the summary extermination of all the nasty people in it.

The leader of UTBU is a "happy-go-lucky blind man" who finds a perfect target in an erstwhile actor, J.F. Amber. Amber's 94-year-old mother will not give him the money he needs to make a comeback, and the conflict produces a very unpleasant person.

William Uggins, the UTBU leader, intends to hasten Amber's demise with an assortment of gothic tortures, and the two figures meet head on in a comical climax.

The cast consists of several newcomers to the Plymouth Theatre Guild, in addition to many of group's regulars. Tom Hinks of Plymouth plays the lead role of J.F. Amber with Effie Kiesel playing his mother and Michelle Dean cast in the role of his niece. Dennis Whalen of Canton plays Uggins, the UTBU leader, with Annie Nichols cast as Madge Kempston, Clemmie Cyburt as Valerie Rogers, Carole McNulty as Connie Tuford and Jodie Falino as Miss "Blank" Rogers.

Under the direction of Richard Brown of Westland, the cast is having as great a time performing the play as those who attend will have in seeing it.

For further information call Leonard Pavia of the guild at 455-0083.

Club dinner to feature ethnic fashion models

A dinner-dance sponsored by the American Relief Society's Sybilie Chapter will take place Nov. 2 at the Shiwasssee Hotel in Southfield, featuring a wide variety of activities for the evening's entertainment.

The theme of the event, "Hawaii to Holidays," has been incorporated into the plans for every facet of the event by members representing the communities of Garden City, Northville, Plymouth, Taylor and many surrounding areas.

Cocktails will be served beginning at 7 p.m. and guests will be able to sample delicious hors d'oeuvres prepared by the members. During the 5-course dinner, holiday fashions by Margot of Birmingham will be modeled. Alternating Armenian and

American music will be provided by two bands for the dancing pleasure of those who attend. Hachig Kazarian and his ensemble will provide the fascinating ethnic sounds, while the University Men play

American music for a change of pace.

Reservations for tables seating up to eight may be made by calling Evelyn Kurkchian at 352-6547 or Virginia Kojan at 838-0028.

For osteopath degree

Scholar begins her study

A Romulus resident is one of 86 students who are new members of the 1974 entering class at the Michigan State University (MSU) College of Osteopathic Medicine. The first-year class is the largest to be admitted to the osteopathic medical college. Cynthia M. Trousin of Romulus, the recipient of four scholarship awards, received a bachelor of science degree in biology from the University of Detroit in May. She was treasurer of Alpha Epsilon Delta premedical honor society while attending school there.

A 1970 graduate of Mt. Nazareth Academy in Pittsburgh, Pa., Ms. Trousin is the granddaughter of Cora C. Trousin of 8864 Grover Ave. Romulus.

The class will earn doctor of osteopathy degrees upon completion of a 12-term curriculum, including the study of the basic sciences and body systems, preceptor training emphasizing family medicine and clinical experience at hospitals affiliated with MSU.

The MSU College of Osteopathic Medicine is the first state-sponsored and university-based osteopathic medical school in the United States.

Area fire departments participate in course

Members of the City of Belleville and Van Buren Township fire departments recently completed a 6-week training course in fire fighting techniques and fire prevention.

The 25 firemen, including 15 from the city fire department, received instruction in fire fighting tactics from Lt. Robert Mathies of the Ypsilanti Fire Department. Ypsilanti fireman Wayne Maule assisted Lt. Mathies.

The classes were held at the Belleville Fire Department quarters.

The training course is sponsored by the University of Michigan and paid for by the city.

For road closing laws

Trustees support proposals

Efforts being made by two area state legislators, which would require the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation to hold public meetings prior to closing major roads, has received the unanimous support of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

A formal resolution supporting proposed bills of State Rep. Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti) and State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) was approved at a recent session of the township trustees.

Both state legislators planned on introducing bills when the state legislature reconvenes Nov. 19.

The proposed bills would require the state highway department to notify officials in areas effected by major road closing and to hold public hearings more than six months prior to the start of the road projects.

THE RESOLUTION approved by township officials said it would support such bills because township residents and officials "attempted in vain to obtain correct information from the highway department regarding time schedule and highway department intentions regarding the re-routing of traffic and closing of bridges during the current construction on I-94 300 feet north of its present boundaries."

The resolution further said the public hearing should be held "not more than six months prior to such action and not less than the time needed to incorporate the input from such public hearings into the state highway department's plans and time schedule of each portion of the project."

Robertson resigns job

The president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, Ben Robertson, has resigned.

Robertson, who lives at 48541 I-94 was elected chamber president in May. He said his resignation, effective Oct. 1, was due to the fact that he could not devote the time the job required.

Peter Doyle of 70 Davis St., owner of the Lakeview Printing Co. of Belleville, succeeds Robertson as president. Doyle was first vice-president of the chamber of commerce.

Robertson, currently director of Van Buren

Township's Community Development Committee, called upon the chamber's board of directors and community to get behind the new president.

Robertson added that he will continue his active interest in the chamber of commerce and membership.

Scouts earn awards

The summer months of 1974 featured active days for Cub Scout Pack 630 sponsored by the Hayti Elementary School in Romulus. The pack's annual picnic was held in August.

The Cub Scouts enjoyed corn on the cob, hot dogs and many dishes prepared by their mothers. In the evening the young scouts sat around a campfire for the presentation of awards.

The September meeting was opened by the new Webelo den posting the colors. Awards were presented by Cubmaster Larry Lewis.

Cub Scouts who received awards were:

Peter Kosciolk, wolf badge; Jeff Satterlee, 1-year pin and 1-year service star; Virginia Gray, 4-year service star; Samuel West and Jeff Kosmalk both received the Webelo book and scarfs. Mrs. Peter Kosciolk was presented with a den mother's pin.

Cub Scout graduation certificates were presented to Tom Buggy, Mark Netsey, Willie Thomas, Brian Watkins and David Grimes.

3 police positions remain

Sumpter Township officials still are taking applications of qualified persons to fill three police officer positions on the township police force.

The three new police jobs are being made available with funds from the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA).

The CETA funds recently were made available to township officials, Police Sgt. Jerry Cox said. Salary in the amount of $8,750 has been authorized for each of the three police positions.

Board delays final action on employe contract issue

Formal action on an agreement regarding wages and fringe benefits for Sumpter Township employes including police officers has been deferred by the Sumpter Township Board pending further study.

The current 3-year employment contract covering township employes expires in 1975 and is subject to annual renegotiation of wages and fringe benefits at this time of the year.

Sumpter Township Supervisor Robert D. Marble presented a progress report on union negotiations at the board's recent session. He reported that an agreement has been worked out with the state labor mediator on wages and fringe benefits and asked for board approval.

Since board members wanted more time to review the progress report, formal action was deferred at least until the board's Oct. 22 session.

The board also:
-Approved the rezoning of a 10-acre land parcel located on sumpter Road between Willis and Harris Road to permit the construction of a permanent family medical center by the Oakwood General Hospital of Dearborn.

-Approved a motion introduced by Trustee Marlowe Fowler and supported by Trustee Harvey Moore to instruct the township attorney (if the matter is not in the hands of a judge) to stop the Holloway Construction Co. operation at a Sumpter Township sand removal site until a controversy with area citizens is straightened out.

Jarrett of 44757 Lake Crest, secretary.

Attending the planning commission meeting was new commission member Darryl Robson of 15634 Martinsville Rd., Belleville.

In other matters the commission deferred formal action on a requested rezoning of a 35-acre land parcel, located on the south side of Tyler Road between Haggery and Morton Taylor.

Salvatore Lumetta of 2000 N. Lafayette Ave., Dearborn, told the commission that he and his six brothers and sisters own the land parcel and wish to rezone the site from residential to multiple dwelling.

Store owner is dead after Romulus shooting

Wayne County Sheriff's Department detectives are seeking a maroon 1969 Pontiac Grand Prix believed to be the getaway car in a Romulus robbery-shooting.

The robbery and shooting victim, a 72-year-old store owner, died Wednesday from bullet wounds in the head and arm. The charge in the case has been changed to felony-murder.

According to Det. Dale Orth of the sheriff's department, John Majchrzak was shot twice when he gave chase to several fleeing suspects after his market at Wayne and Van Born roads was held up.

After an undetermined number of men robbed him of $165 and began fleeing in a car with a possible five other persons, Majchrzak gave chase on foot with an automatic pistol. Detectives theorize he fired one shot before the pistol jammed.

The suspect's car, meanwhile, inadvertently struck another car and came to a halt. Majchrzak then ran up to the car, pointed his pistol in a window and tried to fire, but the weapon jammed again, Orth said. He was then shot in the head and arm by one of the persons in the car and the auto fled the scene.

Majchrzak, who remained in critical condition at University Hospital in Ann Arbor for two weeks, died Wednesday morning.

Detectives are searching for a maroon 1969 Pontiac Grand Prix with possible damage to the right front and a white or beige vinyl roof. They also are seeking four to six males and females in connection with the shooting.

Orth said a witness supplied the car's description and believes he positively could identify the suspects.

Majchrzak's death was the second murder of the year in Romulus. He was a long-time resident and merchant in the city and is survived by a wife and two daughters.

Orth asks that anyone having any information on the suspects or auto call him at 721-2222.

For Huron schools

Fire hydrants get board nod

Adequate fire hydrants to protect three Huron School District schools will be ready to use in February after a recent fo-ahead decision by the board of education.

Work on the $72,000 project to install fire hydrants near the Hannan Road Elementary School, the Huron High School and the nearby Huron Junior High School will begin soon, Huron School Supt. Byron K. Antcliff said.

PRESENTLY the elementary school and high school are not adequately protected from fire, and some doubt exists as to whether a fire in the rear part of the high school could be reached except with pumper trucks, Antcliff continued.

A year-long delay in the project has nearly doubled the cost, he added. In 1973 the estimate for the same amount of work was $45,000. The increase is due to labor costs and general inflation.

The resolution from the school board passed at a meeting Friday will signal the start of the joint school district township project, Antcliff said.

The project especially is significant because it is one of the first such joint cooperative efforts, he added.

THE RESOLUTION has been forwarded to the township council for its final approval before construction can begin.

"The program is moving right along and I certainly am glad to see it do this," the superintendent said.

THEY WORK TOGETHER — Though very different in size and use, the two items shown here play important roles in the efficient operation of the Federal Aviation Agency's long-range radar facility on Sheldon Road near Michigan Avenue in Western Wayne County. The warning notice and heavy lock on the door to the facility's radar antenna (top) prevent unauthorized persons from becoming subjected to lethal radiation given off by the rotating scanner, and the tiny printed circuit board (bottom) is an integral part of the unit's computer which codes and relays air traffic information to controllers in Ohio. — The Enterprise-Roman photos.

Of what is inside

Foyer decor gives glimpse

The old saw "first impressions count" goes for houses as well as people. So smart residents of Western

Wayne County preparing to redecorate their home should put their best foot forward in the place people see first: the foyer. Many older homes have entrance halls or foyers separated from the living room. Owners of newer homes without a separate foyer sometimes use tall furnishings like shelves and bookcases to create a small foyer off the living room.

In either case, the foyer should be carefully decorated, and a good starting point is the floor.

THE FOYER floor receives lots of punishment from incoming traffic, so a material that's attractive but easy to clean should be selected.

Traditional "natural" or "handmade" materials like random stone, cobblestone, slate, quarry tile, mosaic tile and brick have long been favorites for foyer floors because of their beauty and durability. Unfortunately, they're often too costly for most household budgets.

Nonetheless, the advantages of these traditional floors needn't be sacrificed.

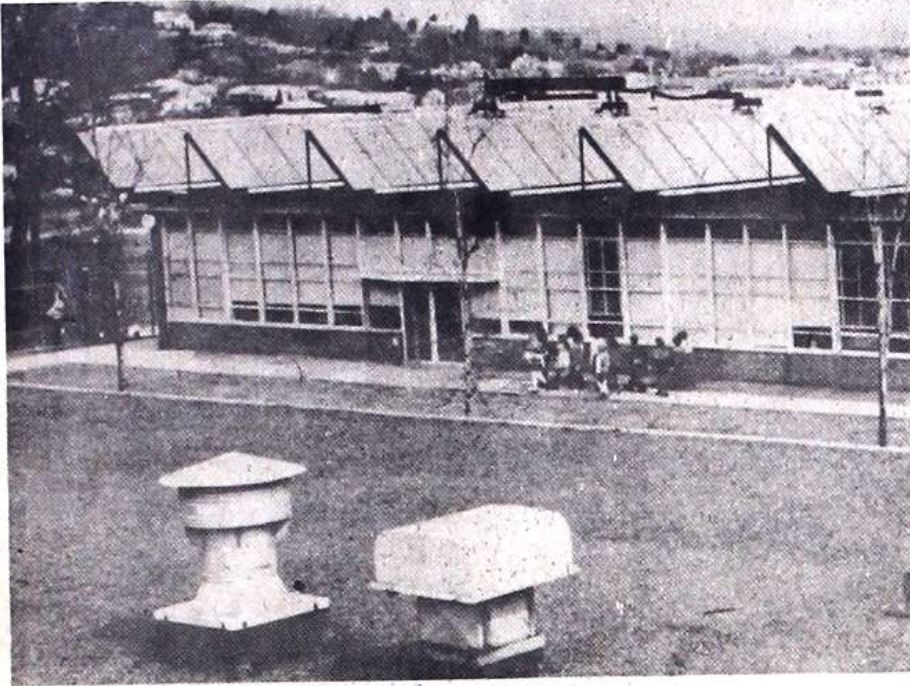

Their looks and toughness have been captured in modern resilient floors at a fraction of the cost. For example, one company offers more than 60 patterns and colors in resilient floors styles to match traditional materials. Prices range from economical vinyl-asbestos tile to premium quality no-wax sheet floors, (the type that come in wide rolls).

BUT DON'T feel trapped by tradition when picking a foyer floor. With a careful eye for color coordination and a little common sense, exotic patterns duplicating the elegance of hand-tooled leather and Italian or Dutch glazed ceramic tiles can be used tastefully in the foyer.

Some people feel that carpeting the foyer creates a "plus" atmosphere and helps keep track-in dirt out of carefully cleaned living rooms. But to retain that plus appearance, a foyer carpet requires vacuuming almost daily, especially during bad weather, as well as frequent shampooing. And most residential carpeting simply won't hold up under prolonged exposure to heavy foyer traffic.

When picking a foyer floor, it's helpful to remember that the foyer should be an "introduction" to the home's overall decor. Keeping this idea in mind makes color selection easier.

NOT SCIENCE FICTION — Roof-top solar panels developed by AAI Corp. collect the sun's rays to heat water used in supplying heat for the central wing of the Timonium Elementary School near Baltimore, Md. Pipes supplying water that passes through the panels and from there to the heating system are insulated with special urethane insulation to minimize heat loss. If the system proves efficient, residents in Western Wayne County and throughout the country may one day see such systems in all areas of construction.

Old Sol's heat beats short oil

It was 75 years ago that H. G. Wells wrote "The First Men on the Moon," about the discovery of a highly-advanced lunar civilization of robot-like creatures whose underground cities were run entirely on solar energy.

Since then, Wells' fictional explorers, transported in a diving bell-shaped spacecraft painted with a secret anti-gravity propellant, have been left behind in a cloud of stardust by real astronauts of the 1960s and 70s.

But until the recent energy crisis which spurred research into substitutes for fossil fuels, little had been done by us humanoids to harness the sun's power.

NOW, THANKS to a grant from the National Science Foundation, school children can read the stories of H.G. Wells and other writers in classrooms heated by solar energy.

Four solar heating projects for schools in the Eastern United States have been funded under the foundation's Research Applied to National Need (RANN) program.

One of the schools, the Timonium Elementary School near Baltimore, is the first American school building to have a classroom wing heated by solar energy.

Mounted on the school's roof are large glass-faced solar panels, 180 of them in all, tilted at 45-degree angles to face the sun. About eight-tenths of a gallon of water flows through each panel every minute.

THE SUN'S rays heat the water to between 140 and 150 degrees Fahrenheit. This water is collected in pipes running beneath each panel and returned either directly to the school's heating system or to a 15,000-gallon tank where it is stored until needed when clouds obscure the sun.

During its trip from the roof to the heat distribution system, the water must be kept close to the temperatures generated by the sun. So an important component of the solar heating system is the insulation used on the pipes.

The insulation chosen for the Timonium Elementary School is a rigid urethane foam material which has a broad temperature range of minus 250 to plus 220 degrees Fahrenheit and outstanding thermal efficiency.

Designed, fabricated and installed by the AAI Corp. in only six weeks, the solar heating system was operational in time to warm one wing of the school at the height of the energy crunch last March.

A SIMILAR solar heating system was developed by the General Electric Company's Space Division to provide up to 20 per cent of the heat required to warm the 3 story Grover Cleveland Junior High School in Dorchester, Mass.

After being heated by the sun in panels on the roof, a water-antifreeze solution is pumped through an insulated tubing network to a pair of special solar heat exchangers that work in conjunction with two of the school's 10 conventional heating units.

The solar heating projects for schools are adding important knowledge to our understanding of the sun's immense power and its applications. Their success will determine whether solar heating systems can economically and significantly reduce fuel needed to heat other schools and facilities.

If they can, it may not be too long before science catches up with H.G. Wells' science fiction and entire cities are run on solar energy.

In his own room

Imagination can put a child to sea

A little imagination and hard work is all that is required to bring back memories of fun-filled salty weekend on ocean beaches, or to help along a youngster's dream of someday sailing the briny seas as captain of his own sailing vessel. And the entire transformation can take place in one small room.

The landlocked skipper's room can be made both seaworthy and see-worthy by decorating it in the mood of his chosen avocation. Easy-care carpeting, floor tiles, a wood plank ceiling, some new furniture pieces and clever accessorizing turn the tide and can transform a plain unimaginative room into a world of high-sea adventure.

To get the do-it-yourself part underway, use self-stick floor tiles in the sleeping area. Easy to install, all you do is peel back the paper, place the tile in position and press. There is no messy glue, adhesive or tape needed and such tiles are available from several manufacturers.

Wood grain ceiling planks add considerably to the total look in room decorating and are easy to put up with a staple gun. Such "mock" planks are also available from several manufacturers.

Such accessories as a ship's wheel over the bunk, a curtain rod fashioned from a salvaged boat oar, life preservers, shells, an anchor, compass and harpoon all blend into the mood and remain as a fascinating collection of nautical things.

Anyone with a young "tar" or even a "spar" in the house will find them in endless delight navigating in such quarters. Even the captain of the house may find himself navigating into the comfortable setting.

And after all, what better place could be found to re-read "Moby Dick," "The Old Man and the Sea," or "The Ancient Mariner?"

Home Improvement

THE CLASSIC CLASSIC-Landlocked sailors who long for a taste of the sea can, with a little money and effort, transform even a college dormitory room into a seaman's paradise. Do-it-yourself carpeting, wood grain ceiling planks and marine artifacts all lend to the briny motif.

CAR SAFETY PROGRAM — State Police Youth Officer Robert Brandt recently visited the auto mechanics class conducted at the Vocational Trades Center of the Van Buren School District. He is shown with student Morris Herron (behind the wheel) as he explains the proper method of road testing a car. Trooper Brandt is assigned to the Ypsilanti State Police Post.

Businessmen in state plan to expand trade with Africa

A group of Michigan industrialists and businessmen will make a two week trip to South Africa in November to lay the groundwork for expanded 2-way trade between that bustling nation and their home state.

The group, officially known as a Michigan Business Promotion Mission, will be under official aegis of the State Chamber of Commerce. It will leave Nov. 9 and return Nov. 23 and will visit Pretoria, Durban, Capetown and Johannesburg with a side trip to Kruger National Park.

The purpose of the trip is to give Michigan businessmen who manufacture for export or import for distribution an opportunity to make first hand contacts with prospective counterparts in South Africa, according to State Chamber President Harry Hall.

HALL SAID there still is room for additional Michigan representatives in the mission. Anyone interested should contact him at the State Chamber of Commerce, 501 S. Capitol Ave., Lansing 48933, or by telephone at 517-371-2100.

The main reason South Africa was chosen was because of its heavy reliance on imports and its booming economy. Hall added. Currently, South Africa is importing four times as much from the United States as its exports to this market - $658 million versus $169 million.

Hall believes more of the $658 million and its subsequent increases can be channelled to Michigan business if businessmen make an aggressive effort to get it.

"We have learned that South Africa especially is interested in importing light and heavy industrial machinery, scientific instruments, tools, pumps, valves, heavy presses, bending machines, electronic profile cutting equipment, mining equipment, transportation equipment and earth moving equipment," Hall said.

JUST ABOUT all of these items are produced or can be produced right here in Michigan and there's no reason we should not get a share -- a big share -- of that business," he added.

John P. McGoff, State Chamber chairman and president of Panax Corp., described South Africa as "one of the world's new economic frontiers, exciting in possibilities of mutually beneficial trade."

Panax recently launched a new graphic arts operation in South Africa, using Michigan executive personnel and local staff.

"The country reminds me of the United States just after World War II, adventuresome and hopeful," McGoff said. "It's increasingly high standard of living will continue to demand an ever rising level of imports which we feel we in Michigan can help satisfy."

One major factor in raising standard of living demands will be the introduction of television within the next year with its ability to stimulate such a mass market, a chamber spokesman said.

AM General wins bus bids

The AM General Corporation of Wayne is the successful bidder on four contracts to build 395 transit buses at a cost of $22 million.

The American Motors Corp. subsidiary, which has research offices in Wayne, successfully bid on 100 buses for Kansas City, 25 buses for Tulsa, 240 buses for St. Louis and 30 buses for Scranton.

Romulus Dems to dance

The Romulus Democratic Club will hold its pre-election and Halloween Dance at 8 p.m. Oct. 26 at the Romulus Progressive Club, 1158 Ozga Rd., Romulus.

Dance music will be played by Buddy Blair's musical combo. Tickets can be obtained by calling Club President Dick Butz at 941-0154, or John Lewkowicz at 941-0666.

The affair also will provide an opportunity to meet the Democratic candidates seeking election in the Nov. 5 general election.

(AMC) is offering substantial savings to buyers of its 1975 small cars who purchase a special economy package.

THE PACKAGE, known as the "Econo-Mizer," costs $199 and includes radial tires for improved fuel economy, a fuel vacuum gauge and a factory installed locking gas cap.

The $199 price represents a $60 savings on individual items for Gremlin buyers and a $45 savings on individual items for Hornet buyers.

Safety seat

Ford Motor Co. is offering a new bassinet-type seat to accommodate babies up to one year of age while riding in the family car.

Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers will be selling the Ford Infant Safety Carrier for babies weighing up to 20 pounds.

DESIGNED TO fit any Ford or Lincoln-Mercury product in 1975, the carrier allows the child free movement of arms and legs while being securely restrained during a crash in either the front or rear seat.

The carrier is designed to face the rear of the car, and to be tethered to it by existing seat belt restraint systems.

Interlock voided
If the new infant carrier is to be attached to seatbelts, it may not be a seatbelt interlock system.

A Senate-House conference committee in Washington voted Monday to put an end to the auto interlock system which prevents a car from being started without seatbelts fastened.

HOWEVER, the committee also gave the secretary of transportation authority to order the installation of passive-restraint systems, such as airbags, in future cars.

Price lids attacked

General Motors Corp. (GM) President E.M. Estes has called for deregulating the well-head price of natural gas and removing emergency petroleum allocations and price controls.

AMC ups prices

AMERICAN Motors has joined the other auto manufacturers in raising prices on its 1975 cars.

The price increase is up $384 from 1974 model prices and up $30 from prices previously announced for 1975-model cars.

Blood donors get advantage

Have you or a loved one ever needed blood? If you have and you did not belong to a blood bank you probably found that each precious pint cost between $25 and $45. Recently Dorothy Szuch of Belleville required 29 pints of blood which would have cost her husband, Joseph, $875. Joseph belonged to the Belleville Community Blood Bank and as a member of the blood bank, his wife received the desperately needed blood absolutely free, according to Martha Morton, chairman of the Belleville Community Blood Bank.

Insure your family's future needs by donating a pint of blood on Oct. 28 at Belleville High School between the hours of 2 and 7:45 p.m.

Education census sweeps the area

A sample of households in the Western Wayne County area will this week take part in the federal government's annual survey on education, conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Robert G. McWilliams, director of the bureau's regional office in Detroit, said interviewers will visit homes to obtain information about the number of school years completed by household members. There also will be questions about the number of children attending nursery school or kindergarten.

The education census is in addition to the regular monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide each month by the census bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

The survey provides a continuing measure of conditions in the labor force. The August survey found the nation's employment situation little changed from July. The unemployment situation little changed from July.

The survey provides a continuing measure of conditions in the labor force. The August survey found the nation's employment situation little changed from July. The unemployment rate was 5.4 per cent, up slightly from 5.3 per cent the month before.

Total employment was 86.2 million, practically unchanged for the past two months and up only 375,000 since January.

Approximately 50,000 households across the country, scientifically selected to represent a cross-section of Americans society, take part in this monthly survey.

All information provided the bureau is confidential by law and can be published only as statistical totals in which no individual or household is identified.

Democrats meet their candidates

A meet the Democratic Candidate Night under the sponsorship of a recently formed "Women's Committee to Elect the Parraghi Slate" will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at the Polish National Alliance (PNA) Hall, located at Sumpter and Harris roads in Sumpter Township.

According to Amanda Roberts, publicity chairman for the event, attendance confirmations have been received from Cong. William D. Ford (D-15th District), Sen. William Faust (D-Westland), Belleville's Mayor Royce E. Smith, State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-Romulus) and Henry Zaborowski, candidate in the non-partisan race for the 34th District Court's new and additional judgeship.

- Dispose of, by sale to private enterprise, the Wayne County General Hospital which loses over 50 million tax dollars per year to operate — at best a half-used facility.
- To investigate regional governments, their need and accomplishments with the possibility of withdrawing Wayne County from SEMCOG, SEMTA and re-establishing Wayne County autonomy.
- To examine the entire health and welfare structure of Wayne County — its relationship to state welfare abuses, with a goal of cutting back this most single greatest expenditure of all county funds.
- Get the County out of the airport business by turning the administration over to private enterprise and thus establishing a tax asset instead of a liability.
- Document the amount of real property exempted from taxes by tax exempt Foundations in order to re-assess such properties, thus lessening the tax burden on the private owner.
- Investigate judicial leniency in relation to rampant growth of crime and make recommendations to the proper government agency.
- Cut down or eliminate all programs which are not essential and to combine or amalgamate or disband all services which tend to be duplicated in other departments thus streamlining and cutting down the tax burden in accordance with the maxim — less taxes through less government.

Belleville captures WW golf crown

Birk, Raymond are co-medalists

By TOM MOORADIAN
EagleSports Editor

When it's unexpected, it's more gratifying than ever. That's the sentiment Sam Vicchy disclosed after Belleville High captured the 9th annual Western Wayne Golf Invitational held yesterday at Salem Hills.

Belleville shot a team total 338 to outdistance its nearest challenger, Livonia Franklin, by eight strokes. It was the second time in five years the Tigers have won the championship.

"I WAS really surprised at what my kids did out there today," said the veteran Belleville coach. "I thought the dog fight would be between Franklin, John Glenn and Wayne Memorial.

"But I guess that's what makes sports so interesting, you never know the outcome until the final results are in." Trailing Franklin in the field of seven were: John Glenn (351), Wayne Memorial (353), Cherry Hill (359), Garden City West (360) and Garden City East (377).

West, the defending champ, had its problems. Herb Bedard's 80 (39-41) was the best the Tigers could muster. And that was three strokes off the pace set by co-medalists

Tim Birk and Tim Raymond of Belleville.

Birk, who now has won or shared the invitational title for the past three years, trailed his teammate by three strokes after nine holes. He shot a 39 as compared to Raymond's 36.

HOWEVER, while Birk shaved a stroke off his game for the next nine holes, Raymond found himself in trouble and managed to come out with a 41. The 77's were five strokes over par for the Salem Hill's course.

"Tim just has a lot of natural golfing ability," said Vicchy, "and both these boys

Tim and Raymond have been the most consistent players I have had on the team.

"I was also surprised the way our No. 3 man, Rick Muse, and Mark DeMara came through for us."

THE TOP six players at the invitational automatically are named to The Daily Eagle Associated Newspapers' All-Area team. Joining Birk and Raymond in that elite group are Bob Jawor, Kevin Pollock, Herb Bedard and John Lyons.

Jawor, from a prominent family of golfers - his uncle is the golf pro at Warren Valley, fired a 39 for the first nine holes, then turned in a 40 for the second for a total of 79. The Cherry Hill golfer tied Glenn's Kevin Pollock for third place.

Pollock strung together a 38 and 41 for his 79.

Bedard came up with a 39, then carded a 41 and the West senior was forced to settle for an 80 for his efforts.

MEANWHILE, Lyons had a 43 on the front nine, then found the range and shot a 39 to finish with an 82. His performance is doubly significant because Franklin has not been able to field a golf team for the past four years because of cutbacks in the Livonia School District.

The sport was reinstated this fall.

"It was an exciting meet," said Harry Hidenfelter, who served as the tournament director. "Of course, the outcome surprised most of us because we figured that Franklin had the best shot at winning it."

"I think the golfers enjoyed the competition and hopefully we can expand it next year," Hidenfelter said.

TIM BIRK

Birk wins regional

Displaying the steady hand that helped him win a share of the Western Wayne championship, Belleville's Tim Birk captured medalist honors at the state Class A regional held in Temperance Bedford over the weekend.

The Belleville senior shot a fantastic three-under par 69 at Giant Oaks to top the impressive field. His performance earned him a trip this weekend to Kalamazoo where he'll compete for the state Class A championship.

IT WAS also the first time in the school's history that a golfer had won a regional golf championship.

"Tim has always had the potential," said Belleville Coach Sam Vicchy, "and on Saturday he put his game together."

Belleville however slipped to sixth place in the Suburban 8 Conference meet held at Crosse Ile. The Tigers accumulated a total of 349 team points.

Plymouth won the title with a 321 total. Following the champ, in order, were Trenton (326), Dearborn (334), Bentley (344), Redford Union (345), Belleville (349), Edsel Ford (358) and Allen Park (408).

Birk had to settle for a tie for fourth place in the league after turning in an 80.

It's Homecoming time at Belleville school

Belleville High's football team can boast that it has never lost a football game on the home gridiron this season.

And Coach Keith Emerson wants to keep it that way as the Tigers prepare to host a strong Edsel Ford contingent Friday night. It's also "Homecoming" for Belleville.

"We haven't lost at home this year," said Emerson, "and that's about the only consolation there is so far."

Edsel isn't the team it was a year ago, but to beat them we're going to have to improve our defense.

IT WAS a faulty defense that caused Belleville's 34-15 capitulation to Trenton last Friday. The defeat dipped the Tigers' record to 1-3 in the Suburban 8 Conference.

Emerson singled out a third-quarter 97-yard kickoff return by Jay McDonald as the turning point of the game.

Belleville had a 7-6 lead at the time.

"We weren't able to handle the sudden change and didn't play well after that," related the Tiger mentor. "Our defense completely broke down in that third quarter."

Up to that point Belleville appeared on its way of upsetting the defending champ. TRENTON got on the scoreboard first, breaking a scoreless first quarter midway in the second stanza with Greg Castignola's one-yard touchdown plunge. The Trojans failed to make good on the extra point.

Belleville replied late in that quarter and got the equalizer on quarterback Mark Verrot's 31-yard pass to Mike Stanley which climaxed a 72-yard drive.

Then, Dan Theodore put the Tigers out in front 7-6 with the extra point conversion.

That margin dissipated with McDonald's superb 97-yard kickoff return and from then on it was all downhill for the local contingent.

Trenton also got on the scoreboard in that quarter thanks to Mark Lybrook's seven yard TD run which capped a 64-yard drive.

Lybrook converted for the two-points, then Mark Pitylak sprinted around end from four yards for the Trojan's third TD in the quarter.

Pitylak also got the two-extra points on a run.

Trenton turned the battle into a rout when Duncan Allen crashed through from the one early in the fourth period, giving the champs an overwhelming 34-7 edge.

VERROT retaliated in the closing minutes with a late drive that ended with a 32-yard TD aerial to Dan Scripser. A Verrot-to-Stanley pass was good for the two point conversion.

Trojan also dominated the stats. They picked up 17 first downs to the Tigers' seven and rushed for 287 yards as compared to 67.

Verrot had one of his best days as he hit on 10 of 17 passes for 97 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted once.

"Our defense pretty much let us down in this one," said Emerson. "We played well the previous week but couldn't stop them up the middle this week."

Huron blanked again

The proverbial frying pan awaits Huron.

After losing a 44-0 conference football game to league co-leader, Flat Rock, last Friday, Coach Jim Rossow's Chiefs find themselves taking on the other unbeaten conference team, Tecumseh.

"What can I say?" asked Rossow rhetorically after his team sustained its fifth scoreless loss in as many outings. "Tecumseh's record speaks for itself. They're undefeated and want to win the title, so you can be sure they're going to go into this game with everything they get."

Huron is on the road for Friday night's game which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

EVEN A Homecoming crowd couldn't help Huron last Friday. Though a stubborn defense, led by always-reliable Bill Grover and a respectable secondary unit, held the Rocks scoreless for the first 12 minutes, the co-leaders put 10 points on the scoreboard in the second quarter.

Then, in the next half Flat Rock dominated all facets of the game.

WW meet could be upgraded

By TOM MOORADIAN

The weatherman had predicted rains for Saturday and, unfortunately, he was right for once.

Only the elements marred the Ninth Annual running of the Western Wayne Cross Country Invitational which brought together 15 high school teams at Wayne Memorial to compete for this year's two titles. (The meet is divided into two sections.)

"I feel that the competition is getting better and better each year," said Wayne Memorial Coach Doug Garrett whose Zebras trotted off with the Section One championship.

"But, I think we can do even more to better this meet," he added.

GARRETT SUGGESTED that the format follow the prestigious Schoolcraft Community College Invitational. There, after the meet, the athletes and coaches are invited to a luncheon where the results and trophy presentations are made.

It wasn't a bad idea but money is getting tight, tighter and tighter in these parts.

The well-attended WW meet, despite the rains, also lured George Bell, Principal at Wayne Memorial out into the flats. And he said he was pleased at what he saw.

HOW WAS THE high school going to cope with those hot, humid summer days next year when teachers, because of a month-long strike, would have to work?

"We're not going to sit by and have the summer ruined," said Bell, "we have several projects that we're working on to make the extended year a fruitful one."

"I had an opportunity to visit some of the Detroit schools last summer and I know how difficult it can be sitting in the classrooms when the weather is beautiful and everyone wants to get out."

"Believe me, we're going to come up with some positive things," Bell added.

There was at least one coach who was dissatisfied at the way Wayne handled this year's meet and he had some constructive criticism to offer.

JERRY SZUKAITIS, whose Rockets won the Second Section championship, felt that the annual meet, "was going downhill since Dick Miller last handled it about two years ago."

Miller, a former Wayne High coach who moved into counseling at the high school, was the originator of the meet.

"I feel that the class of the meet is dwindling," said the Westland John Glenn mentor, "and something should be done to upgrade it."

"For example, none of the coaches whom I have talked with had any information about the meet until they arrived at the site and then it was too late."

Told that the school said it was late in sending the information out because of a teachers' strike, Szukaitis replied, "there wasn't a teacher's strike last year. We still didn't get any information last year until after the meet."

"And that's no way to organize a meet," Szukaitis said.

Maybe if the Good Guy upstairs keeps us around for another year, we'll make sure that the necessary info reaches the coaches, after all, we're co-sponsors of the meet and should take co-responsibility for the mixup.

Flyers nosedive

The Romulus Flyers, after a nosedive against the Garden City Panthers, will head for Ypsilanti on Sunday to meet one of the tougher units in the Western Suburban Football League.

The Ypsi Braves have an unbeaten varsity team to throw against the Flyers.

Meanwhile, the Flyers lost a 12-6 decision to the Garden City Panther freshmen, then managed a scoreless tie in the junior varsity competition while the varsity bowed 18-0 last Sunday.

Block sets WW record

Tigers 2nd best at Wayne

Belleville padded its Suburban 8 Conference cross country record at the expense of Plymouth 23-37 last week as Randy Block set a course record on the Metro Huron three-mile course.

Block was clocked in the winning time of 16 minutes flat.

The victory gave Coach Bruce Romant's Tigers a 4-2 won-lost record. Belleville also had the fourth through eighth places nailed down when Tom Kos, Mike Yonge (46:49), Harold Gable (16:53), Dave Palnau (17:00) and Mike Mlsna (17:05) crossed the finish line.

Kevin Clift was 10th for the Tigers, covering the course in 17:23.

EARLIER Belleville finished 10th in a field of 25 teams at the Redford Union Invitational. Belleville garnered 243 points while the champ, Edsel Ford, accumulated 92 team points.

Block wound up 21 in a field of 175 runners. He had a 16:43 for his efforts. He trailed the individual winner, Mike Watson, who was clocked in 15:54.

ROMULUS meanwhile slammed Robichaud 19-40 as Coach Al Wilkerson's runners posted their second win of the current campaign.

"We're going to be all right once we get the experience," said Wilkerson. "We have an all-sophomore-freshman team and that means we're building for the future."

Romulus polished off the first three places with Wendell Buckley who posted a 17:49 over the Rouge Park course, Denardo Green, a sophomore who was also clocked in 17:49.

Trailing the leaders were Steve Zimmerman (17:59), Robert Dixon, who was fifth with an 18:30 while the Eagles were eighth, ninth and tenth with Dave Schieda (19:13), Darnell Hearst (19:19) and Don Smith (19:27).

Earlier, Annapolis edged Romulus 26-36 despite the 1-2 finish by Green (16:55) and Buckley (16:56).

Dixon was 10th (18:23), Zimmerman, 11th (18:25) while Hearst finished 12th (18:36).

ANOTHER VICTORY — Though off to a late start because of a teachers' strike, Westland John Glenn's runners have come on strong in the past two weeks, strong enough to beat Livonia Churchill and a field of seven Saturday to capture the Wayne Invitational

THREE-TIME CHAMP — Wayne Memorial runners retained the Second I phase of the Western Wayne Cross Country Invitational championship on Saturday for the third consecutive year as Coach Doug Garrett's Zebras galloped past seven challengers. Wayne amassed 51 team points to earn the

Belleville bows to Bentley

Chris Sakovids' layup shot with six seconds to go sounded the knell for Belleville High girls' basketball team which lost a 41-39 decision to their Suburban 8 Conference rivals last week.

Belleville had a chance to retaliate and Saina Carter's desperation shot found the mark, however, the refs ruled the basket was scored after the final buzzer.

"It was a well played game," said first year Belleville High Coach Paddy Lynn, "but the lack of defense, especially in the second half, led to our defeat."

"Hopefully we can get even the second time around." BELLEVILLE held the upper hand after the first period 12-4 but the Bulldogs steadily worked back and trailed 24-16 at the half.

Bentley outscored their league rivals 12-8 and 13-7 the last two periods.

Kathy Berbee was the top scorer for the losers, getting a personal high of 22 for the evening. She was the only Belleville player in double figures.

Bentley's balanced attack was led by Miss Sakovids who sank 16 while teammate Judy Siterlet chipped in with 14. Actually, Belleville lost it at the free throw line where the Tigers realized a mere three of 15 chances. Bentley didn't fare much better as the winners dumped in three of 11.

Wayne women wind down golfing season

The gals are all but ready to stash away their golf clubs for another year as the Wayne Parks and Recreation's women's golf league winds down the season.

But, before the finale, Betty Laughren fired a 59 at Fellow's Creek to top the field of six players who braved the inclement weather.

Lil Schou was two strokes back at 61 and Virginia Henneberry shot a 63. Gladys Hubbard carded a 64 while Margaret Engle and Mickey Telesman wound up with identical 68's.

Patients face advice at physicals

The average doctor today seems to have weight, exercise, nutrition and smoking on his mind. That is why residents of Western Wayne County who visit their family physician for a physical examination stand a good chance of being advised on at least one of these categories, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

The organization's prognosis is based on an analysis of a national survey, conducted in June this year, concerning patient visits for medical examination.

According to the survey, more than one out of every two patients who came for a check-up, received specific medical recommendations dealing specifically with cutting down on food and smoking, while improving dietary and exercise habits.

Less than one in three persons over 60 years of age came away with a clean bill of health, while overall, nearly one in five was given this solemn advice: "You must go on a diet to lose weight." But the struggle to slim down was strongest among the middle-aged, nearly one in four of whom was put on a diet by his doctor.

But despite the current emphasis on diets and exercises, the most frequently prescribed medical solution — for one in every four patients — was medicine.

Board allows candidate to keep trailer

A zoning variance to permit a candidate for the 34th District Court to maintain his campaign trailer in the City of Belleville has been granted by the Belleville Board of Zoning Appeals. Fred H. Hogan, who was granted the zoning variance, is an attorney and Belleville are resident for the last 23 years. He is one of two candidates competing in the non-partisan race for the court post.

The action taken by the board of zoning appeals at a specially-called meeting held last Wednesday now permits Hogan to operate his trailer office until Nov. 6. THE CITY'S zoning ordinance does not allow trailers except in recognized trailer parks.

Recently Hogan appeared before Belleville City Council to request council's approval to conduct a campaign headquarters from a rented trailer set up on a land parcel located at 300 Sumpter Rd. south of the Norfolk and Western Railroad tracks. The site initially was thought to be in Van Buren Township.

The board's ruling instructed the city building inspector to issue a permit with restriction to Hogan or any other candidate or candidates requiring temporary permits until Nov. 6.

Railway told to install signal lights

The Norfolk and Western Railway Co. has been ordered by the Michigan Public Service Commission to install automatic flashing-light signals and half-way gates at its grade crossing at Martinsville Road in Van Buren Township.

The commission ordered the railway company to install equipment within 180 days. In addition, the company must rebuild the grade crossing within 60 days.

The double-track crossing at the 2 lane road now is protected by advance warning and crossbuck signs. Four accidents have occurred at the site, the commission said.

The railway company had objected to the recommendations for light and gate protection and questioned the accuracy of the Wayne County Road Commission's vehicular traffic count at the crossing.

The Public Service Commission upheld the road commission's report of an average daily volume of 667 vehicles using the crossing.

In its order to the company, the commission cited the history of accidents at the crossing, the volume of vehicular traffic, railroad traffic of 12 trains daily, the use of the crossing by 10 school buses each day and the reported expectations of economic development in the area.

Candidates plan meet with voters

Voters in Western Wayne County will have an opportunity to meet the four District 7 candidates for the Wayne County Community College Board of Trustees, including one candidate from Romulus, at two "candidate nights" scheduled for Oct. 22 and Oct. 24.

The first meeting will begin at 8 p.m. Oct. 22 in John Glenn High School at 36105 Marquette in Westland, and the second meeting will be held at Milton Middle School, 1771 Henry Ruff Rd., Inkster, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 24.

College officials, students and citizens are expected to attend the meetings, sponsored by the Area 7 Citizens Advisory Council of the college.

The four candidates are vying for the seat now held by Trustee John R. Ryan of Westland, who is not seeking reelection to another 6-year term. Ryan's current term expires Dec. 31. He represents Trustee District 7, including communities in Western Wayne County.

The candidates from District 7 are, David A. McDonald of 15620 Anthony Ave., Romulus; Garth Christie of 11653 Riverdale, Redford Township; James R. McCartney of 5683 N. Harvey, Westland; and Ann F. Perez of 35905 Somerset, Westland.

Voting precinct moves to school auditorium

Van Buren Township's voting precinct six, formerly located in the west wing of Belleville High School, 501 W. Columbia Ave., Belleville, now is located in the high school auditorium.

It was earlier inadvertently reported that the precinct was moved into the high school gymnasium.

Semi-finalists chosen for title

The student body at Belleville High has selected the five semi-finalists who will compete for the title of 1974 Homecoming Queen.

The five semi-finalists, elected after a school-wide election held last Thursday, are Mary Dicotte, Cindy Clark, Sharon R. Craine, Debbie Hall and Laurie Nowak all members of this year's senior class.

The high school's 1974 Homecoming Queen will be crowned during half-time festivities at the football game between Belleville High and Edsel Ford High Schools beginning 8 p.m. Friday

A parade of the various homecoming floats also will take place during the half-time program.

Following the football game, a homecoming dance will be held at the high school from 10:30 p.m. until midnight.

The Homecoming Queen and her court will be introduced to the student body along with last year's queen at a pep rally held during the afternoon prior to the football game.

A preview of the various homecoming parade floats and members of the football team also will be introduced at the pep rally.

Various ongoing contests between grade levels were held during the week leading to homecoming highlights - the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, the football game and the selection of the winning homecoming float.

Court branch seen as good possibility

One of the six Wayne County Commissioners deciding where to build new circuit court facilities in the county has said the Western Wayne County area "stands a very good chance" of having a branch located there.

The logical place, said Edgar L. Harris (26th District) is on some county land in the juncture of Wayne, Westland, Inkster and Romulus. He and several other members of the county public works committee, which decides where the court will go, are pushing for the branch in the western out-county area.

There are presently 28

circuit court judges utilizing court facilities in the City-County Building in Detroit. Five new judges will be added in the Nov. 5 election and county officials have decided to house the five in the Lafayette Building downtown while determining where to build a permanent court facility.

Harris is trying to convince the county to assign at least one judge to Western Wayne County, claiming that the area's growing need necessitates a branch there. "Locating a court in the western areas would eliminate the high cost and waste of time of having to send policemen downtown all the time to the courthouse," he said. He also cited the public's problems of journeying to Detroit to the courthouse and the difficulty in finding parking.

He said the LaFayette Building lease for the five judges is for three years, "to allow time to build a permanent facility."

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

HAROLD REDISKE, JR. — DIRECTORS

Do you ever get the impression that conditions and situations have worsened through the years? Admittedly, there are many things wrong, but in many things we are really better off than before.

Epidemics of typhus, diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, etc., are over with. Tuberculosis is almost unheard of. Dreadful polio has been conquered. Our older generations lived through a horrible depression and from their experiences we now have more food, nourishing vitamins, more homes, better and warmer homes, better schools and greater opportunities than they ever had. We work fewer hours, have more leisure, travel far more - and have more money in the bank than they ever had. We have more schools, better teachers, and more opportunity for higher education for ALL instead of the wealthy few. Per-capita output has more than doubled. Life expectancy has substantially increased. In considering the past and present, the parents and grandparents of today's college youth have NOT made a complete mess of things.

YOUNGBLOOD, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Wayne, State of Michigan, will on TUESDAY, the 29TH DAY OF OCTOBER, A.D., 1974, at 11:30 A.M., AT THE WAYNE COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION'S FIELD ENGINEERING BUILDING NO. 358, ON MIDLEBELT ROAD, SOUTH OF WICK ROAD, ROMULUS, MICHIGAN proceed to enter an order declaring all that portion of the TEXAS MARSH (COUNTY) DRAIN, aka TEXAS MARSH & BRANCH DRAIN easement as established in the West half of Section 25, T. 3 S., R. 9 E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, beginning at a point on the West line of Section 25, which is 960 feet South of the Northwest corner of Section 25, thence Easterly 460 feet, thence Southeasterly 1,650 feet, thence Southerly 160 feet, thence Easterly 1,000 feet, thence Southerly 1,000 feet, thence Southeasterly to a point of ending on the North and South 1/4 line of Section 25, 1,800 feet North of the South 1/4 corner of Section 25, vacated and abandoned for the reason that in my judgment said portion of the TEXAS MARSH (COUNTY) DRAIN, aka TEXAS MARSH & BRANCH DRAIN, has ceased to be of public utility for the reason that alternate drainage has been provided.

Such action is based upon a certain resolution to vacate and abandon said portion of said drain, filed with me, the County Drain Commissioner of the County of Wayne, on the 28th Day of May, 1974, signed by Henry J. Galecki, Secretary and Clerk of the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners.

All expenses of such vacating and abandoning will be paid by said petitioners as provided by the statute, and there will therefore be no assessment district. NOW, THEREFORE, you and all owners of lands and persons interested in the above-described portion of said TEXAS MARSH (COUNTY) DRAIN, aka TEXAS MARSH & BRANCH DRAIN, to be vacated and abandoned, as aforesaid, and the lands affected thereby, are hereby cited to appear at the time and place of making such order and be heard with respect to such order and your interest in relation thereto, if you so desire.

Dated this 2nd Day of October, A.D., 1974.

WAYNE COUNTY DRAIN COMMISSIONER
CHARLES N. YOUNGBLOOD

EARL KEIM REALTY

Home is the place where character is built, where sacrifices for the happiness of others are made, and where love has taken its abode.

A home should be a stockade, a refuge for the flaming arrows of anxiety, tension and worry.

A place to drop your cares, to find happiness and realize the wisdom of simplicity.

A place to gather your family together, where dinner time can be a time of candlelight, music and conversation, serious and gay. Share a great thought and discuss it. Say a prayer of thankfulness for your blessings.

Home is the place to prepare for tomorrow, that you may go forth as a new person, with a new spirit, to meet triumphantly the challenges of the outside world.

We here at KEIM have many houses - but we need YOU to make them a home. Call or stop by today to see our fine selections.
